Carleton F. Burke Memorial Collection

CARLETON F. BURKE
Memorial Collection

The Cal Poly Pomona University Library is honored to be the new home of the Carleton F. Burke Memorial Library, which has been a treasured part of the California Thoroughbred Foundation legacy for over 65 years.

This remarkable collection of the rich history and legacy of thoroughbred horse racing contains donations from many of the leaders in the California Thoroughbred industry. The library's relocation to Cal Poly Pomona has opened new opportunities for preservation, research, and education. However, maintaining and expanding this vital collection requires ongoing support. Your contributions will help:

- Preserve rare and delicate items in the collection
- Support research initiatives and scholarships
- Digitize important documents for broader access

By supporting the Carleton F. Burke Memorial Library, you're not just preserving books – you're safeguarding the legacy of thoroughbred racing and equine history for future generations.

All donations are stewarded by the Cal Poly Pomona Philanthropic Foundation. There are numerous ways to support the Burke collection while at the same time receiving great tax-saving benefits.

- Online donations - visit www.cpp.edu/library/burke or scan QR code below
- Mail a check payable to the CPP Philanthropic Foundation (Memo: Carleton Burke Library) to Dr. Brooks' address below
- Pledge a gift that can be paid off in monthly payments
- Gifts of stocks or securities
- Planned giving such as bequests, IRA charitable rollovers, or charitable gift annuities

All information regarding donations can be found at www.cpp.edu/library/burke

CPP is honored to steward the collection and ensure that it is available for future generations. Dr. Jeanne Brooks, Senior Director of Library Operations & Development is available to answer any questions regarding donations. Her contact information is:
